

This activity diagram represents the logical process of determining whether or not it should alert the user that they have reached a new colour from their new coherence score.

