

This activity diagram represents the logical process of getting all logs currently stored in the database so that the can be viewed by the user in the history menu.

