

This activity diagram represents logical process behind determining whether the coherence score is a low medium or high coherence based on the current challenge level set by the device or the user.

